

ESCATEC adds two new Business Development Managers

Heerbrugg, Switzerland – November 15, 2011 – ESCATEC, the EMS innovator, has expanded its Business Development team with the addition of two new key recruits.

Harald Schroeder (left) is the Business Development Manager for Germany and Austria, and is located in Munich in Southern Germany. Harald started his career in international sales at Deutsch Telekom, before working in account management at Siemens Business Services. He then moved into the EMS industry and spent a number of years working in business development at Plexus Europe and most recently at TES selling EMS and R&D services.

Anders Nielsen (right) is the Business Development Manager in Denmark, and is located in Aarhus, Jutland. Anders has more than 25 years' experience in the Danish electronics industry, including a position as Engineering Manager at Predell Engineering, who act as a sub-supplier for mechanical quality products manufactured in its own factory in China and, more recently, as Business Development Manager and Global Account Manager at Flextronics SBS, Denmark.

"We are delighted to have two such experienced people join ESCATEC," added Markus Walther, Chief Operations Officer of the ESCATEC Group. "They will be instrumental in the expansion of our business throughout Europe and provide a local face for customers that links them into our state of the art R&D and prototyping facilities in Heerbrugg, and also into our Malaysia high volume manufacturing facilities."
